Predictions Over Result Of World Series Are Few; Opening Battle Tomorrow

Toney and Mays Probably Will Oppose Each Other in First Game; Babe Ruth Expected To Do Great Things for Yankees

New York, Oct. 3.—New York plunged into a series of baseball argument today and at the same time divided itself for a rosters' war when the Yankees and Giants met in the world's series combat at the Polo grounds Wednesday afternoon.

Everywhere baseball fans were debating the respective merits of the various players. Whether the speed and resourcefulness of the Giants can overcome the punching power of the Yankees is one of the big points at issue. Yankee rooters expect big things of "Babe" Ruth, home-run king.

It is a mighty impressive array of sluggers which the Yankees present—power not only in the person of the great and mighty Babe, but in Bob Meusel, Peckinpugh, Baker, Pipp, Schang and Ward. The ability to hammer out 135 home runs in one season played altogether the major role in the winning of the pennant by the Yankees. Now it behooves the Giants to show just how formidable a greater home run hitting club may be—or may not be—in a series which is limited to nine games.

Home Run Hitters

The Yankees have two home run hitters who top the best among the Giants. First, we have Ruth with his 59, and then comes Bob Meusel with 24. The king of the Giants' sluggers is George Kelly, with 23 homers, and in second place among the McGraw sluggers we find Emil Meusel, with 14. Twelve Giants are represented in the team's home run mark of 83, while 16 Yankees compiled the circuit hit mark of that outfit. It becomes evident that while the Giants are not quite the home run hitters that the Yankees are, the National leaguers are by no means a lot of weaklings. Any club which can smack out 83 homers is going to make trouble against any other outfit, no matter what the comparison in records.

It is of great interest to note that the Giants excelled the Yankees in hitting triples by 21 to 35, but the American leaguers were more effective with doubles, 275 to 232. In all, the Yankees got 495 extra base hits, as against 466 for the Giants. While there is no question that the Yankees' home run hitting proficiency won the pennant for them—it is a very small margin at the finish this morning—the value of the home run as a winner of games is somewhat exaggerated in the public mind. The homer is a feat with sensational features—not quite as sensational now as it used to be—and it stands out in the domes of any day. But examination of the records will show that home runs win comparatively few games during the season.

Difficult to Predict

Nobody really knows how the pitchers of the rival clubs will shape up in that big series. The Giants have no Chisholm of their great pennant fight of 1904. No Alexander of hazyon days, no Johnson at his best looms up in this classic. And the "doping" thereof is all the tougher. A great hitting club, a great fielding outfit, known as the Cubs, was an overwhelming favorite over a hitless wonder team known as the White Sox in 1905, and the under dogs went out and won four out of six. A supposedly inferior Boston team went in to the classic for the National league and cleaned up the great Athletics machine, four straight. He who ventures a prediction on a world's series is looking for trouble.

Prepare for Series

Meanwhile, the officers of the opposing clubs were making final preparations for the post-season classic. At the Giants' headquarters, all the tickets had been reserved, it was announced, and the talk centered about McGraw's pitching selection for the opening game. "Toney is his best bet," declared an old-time player. "Fred will make Ruth and Meusel, and the rest of that Yankee slugging crowd, pop them up to the infield. McGraw wants to take the first game and Toney is the boy to do it."

Other Giant followers thought that he might start Neff next, the young left-hander, and still others favored Phil Douglas.

Yankee headquarters was filled with baseball players and last-minute ticket seekers. Miller Huggins, manager, went into seclusion, leaving word that he wanted to give his nerves a rest and do some figuring on "the dope." It is generally agreed that Huggins will start Carl Mays, but Bob Shawkey has been going so good in the last few games he has pitched that Huggins may spring him as a surprise.

Fans from all parts of the country are pouring into the city, and hotel managers are counting on filling their accommodations. The seating capacity of the Polo grounds is given as 35,000, but ambitious ushers always have been able to find seats in the aisles and on the rails for a least 3,000 and there is standing room for many more.

The record attendance at a series, 250,000 undoubtedly will be broken if the series goes to six or more games.

Colonel Wagstaff, who was 77 years old, was born in Manhattan, served in the Union army during the Civil war and played a prominent part in Democratic politics for many years.

NEW LAWS CUT HUNTING SEASON

Bag Limit Now Includes Birds Killed by Persons Assisting the Hunters.

AIRPLANE SHOOTING BARRED

Tendency to Tighten Restrictions on Hunting of Birds and Big Game Is Shown in Federal and State Laws for 1921.

Washington.—A tendency to tighten the restrictions on the hunting of birds and big game is noted in the game laws for 1921, a summary of which, both federal and state, has been compiled by the federal biological survey. Among the notable changes made during the present year was the amending of the migratory bird treaty act regulations with respect to bag limits.

This amendment provides that the daily bag limit of any person shall now include "all birds taken by any other person who for hire accompanies or assists him in taking migratory birds." This will put an end to the abuse of privileges under the regulations regarding the prescribed daily bag limits by persons who claim that birds were killed by guides accompanying them.

Waterfowl Season.—The federal waterfowl season for California was fixed from October 1 to January 15, replacing the old season of October 16 to January 31, the season now being the same under both federal and state laws. Regulation 9, governing the issuance of federal scientific permits, was amended to permit the issuance of limited and special permits.

State legislation harmonized federal and state laws on waterfowl and shore birds in Kansas and Oregon, and on waterfowl in Pennsylvania and Rhode Island; Washington prescribed a statewide open season on all migratory game birds from October 1 to January 15, thus deviating from the federal regulations, which supersede the state law, east of the Cascade mountains, where it will now be possible to hunt migratory game birds only from October 1 to December 31, without violating either federal or state law; in Idaho the open season on migratory game birds has been shortened under state law two weeks by opening October 1, instead of September 15, and extending to December 31.

Bar Airplanes.

Kansas, Montana, Nebraska, Oregon and Washington enacted legislation similar to the federal regulation prohibiting hunting from airplanes. Colorado reduced the bag limit on ducks from 20 to 15 a day, while Kansas increased the limit from 20 to 25. In New Jersey reedhens were protected at all times by being placed in the nongame class. The open season for woodcock was extended 25 days in Michigan, and was in New York and one month in Vermont. Doves were protected until 1924 in Colorado, and in Kansas an open season on them was provided from September 1 to October 15.

In general, seasons on big game were shortened and hunting further restricted. Such laws were enacted in Michigan, Montana, Nevada, North Dakota, South Dakota, Vermont and in Washington east of the Cascades. Maine protected spike bucks and prohibited that one of the two deer allowed in the eight northern counties must be an antlered buck, and provided that in two of the counties only reindeer may hunt deer during the last two weeks of the open season. Bull moose were protected for five years in Maine.

HOLDS HEART, PATIENT DIES

Geneva, Switzerland.—The cantonal government has ordered an inquiry into an extraordinary operation performed by the chief surgeon at a hospital, who extracted the heart from a man named Pasche.

Pasche shot himself, the bullet piercing his heart. The surgeon spoke for 20 minutes to the horrified students with the life heart in his hands.

At the end of the lecture, when the man was dead, the students protested to the surgeon, who dismissed their objections with the remark that the patient would have died anyhow within a few hours.

Authorities are not satisfied with this explanation, while the victim's relatives think of bringing a civil action for damages.

Brakeman Gives Sheriff Robbers' Loot Found in Handkerchief in Freight Car.

Dallas, Tex.—Diamonds valued at approximately $20,000 belonging to a local wholesale jewelry house, were taken from a robber's trunk by a brakeman, who broke into the railroad depot at Royce City, where the trunk was found.

About $20,000 worth of the diamonds were turned over to Sheriff Dan Hurston the following day by a brakeman, who said he found them in a freight car, wrapped in a soiled blue handkerchief.

Temple 2,300 Years Old Uncovered.

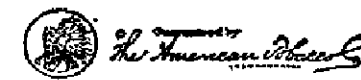

Athens, Greece.—Ruins of a great temple have been unearthed at Sikyon, a city on the southern shore of the Gulf of Corinth, which in the Fourth century B.C. the Christian era was one of the principal cities of Greece. Experts who have visited the new excavations declare that the temple was sacred to the worship of Artemis.

THREE BILLION DOLLARS MOVE THROUGH BROADWAY

New York, Oct. 2.—The usual Sunday slumber of lower Broadway was broken today by the rumble of motor trucks and the tread of heavily-armed police and detectives who guarded for a short distance through the street the transfer of more than three billion dollars in cash, stocks and other collateral.

It was moving day for the New York Trust company, consolidated last spring with the Liberty National bank, from its old home in the Standard Oil building at 26 Broadway, to its own skyscraper at 100 Broadway.

Extraordinary police precautions were taken during the transfer.

Bonackers Win

Bill Hepinstall's Bonackers, playing their best brand of baseball, defeated the strong Flak Red Taps of Springfield, Mass., yesterday afternoon at Riverside park, shutting out the opposition by a score of 3 to 0. "Eck" Hickey, the star pitcher of the Bonackers, was the master of the situation, holding out nine and allowing seven well scattered safeties. Dimey, the first baseman, VanAlst, the catcher, and Hickey, the pitcher, were the Bonackers' other runs. A crowd saw the game. The East Yorkers two victories over the D. & H. Generals and their win yesterday puts them in the van of semi-pro teams in this section. [Albany Times-Union.]

ON ARMISTICE DAY.
In every state in the union, and in thousands of communities, Armistice day, November 11, will be celebrated this year with a patriotic song service. The National Council of Women, of which Mrs. Philip North Moore is president, established National Song service as an annual affair five years ago, through the initiative of Mrs. David A. Campbell, chairman of community singing. In 1915 its members decided that it should be made an observance of Armistice day, and so November 11 became the regular date for the service for all future years.

"This means that 50,000,000 people will be singing national songs that evening throughout this country," says Mrs. Campbell. "In schools, churches, clubrooms, auditoriums, motion picture houses, and even penitentiaries—song services have been held in the penitentiaries ever since we started them. We have made every effort to make the program one of universal appeal, because of this. No creed or race could object to singing anything we have placed there. I am sure, Art knows no creed or country."

The National Council of Women, which in turn belongs to the International council, has 31 branches in this country, and 10,000,000 members, one-tenth of the population of the country. The backing for the song service is much greater than that one-tenth, because of the support which will be given by the American Legion, the National Federation of Music Clubs, the Community service, and various other civic and patriotic organizations.

Mrs. William John Hall, of St. Louis, chairman of the Junior Clubs of America, is arranging to have the program given in the schools of the country under the direct charge of the children themselves, and it is no doubt be given generally in the counties of Otsego and Delaware.

WHY SUCH WEATHER.
Everybody knows that the summer season in the United States has this year been much longer than it commonly is; and the United States Department of Agriculture has lately undertaken to tell why this has been the case. The reason, which is given, perhaps the reader will understand, is that there were "important changes in the distribution of atmospheric pressure over the globe. In consequence of which the usual seasonal interchange of air between equatorial and polar regions was seriously deranged."

That there were such changes everybody will admit, and the department goes on to elucidate. "An unusually warm February," it says, "removed practically all the snow cover in the United States by March 1, and thereafter the solar heat that would ordinarily be expended in melting snow and ice was devoted to warming the soil and the atmosphere. Also it says that there was an increase in the height of the barometer over those parts of the Atlantic and Pacific oceans commonly known as regions of 'semi-permanent high pressure.' The effect was to change the course of rainstorms to higher latitudes, so that there resulted a season so dry as to interfere with the yield of some crops. There you have it as far as it goes. What the weather means to the government have not explained is why that unusually warm February, and why this change in regions of 'semi-permanent high pressure.' When this is explained we may know why such weather. At present we know that the summer was warm because the winter was warm, and that the season was dry because the winds blew in a different direction, both being wise sayings which could as well have been ascribed to Silas Medders, weather prophet of Otsego, as to the experts of the national bureau.

WEATHER FOR SEPTEMBER.
Month has Average Temperature of 64 Degrees, and No Frosts.

The month of September of the present year was exceptional in Oneonta, as everywhere else in the United States, or at least in the eastern section. For one thing there was not a single frost, the coldest night having a record of 37 degrees. This was on the 27th, and there was not another day on which the lowest temperature was below 41. The mean maximum was 62 degrees, the mean minimum 52 degrees and the mean or average for the month 54-55 degrees. The greatest daily range was on the 2nd, when the maximum was 72 degrees and the minimum was 48, a difference of 24 degrees. During the past 25 years there have been two Septembers in which the lowest temperature was higher than this year, being 39 in 1906 and 35 in 1915; but in no September has the mean for the month been as high.

Still More Precocious Hen.
Apropos of an item which appeared in The Star of Saturday relative to the hen belonging to A. E. Foote of this city, which began laying at the age of four months, 15 days, Mrs. Fred Booth of Wells Bridge writes of a still more precocious pullet. "I had some White Leghorns hatched on April 21," she says, "and the first one laid August 27, at the age of four months, 6 days, and on September 11 she laid an egg measuring 7 1/2 by 5 1/4 inches and with three yolks. The September 11 was on Sunday the Wells Bridge hen may be a lineal successor of the one recorded in song: 'Whom like no one shall see, She used to lay two eggs a day, On Sunday she laid three!'"

COMMENTS OF THE PRESS

The World's Wheat.

While the droughts that struck most of the northern hemisphere this year have had a disastrous effect in some places, it seems unlikely that they will prove to have set back the world's wheat supply to an alarming extent.

In the 20 countries that normally produce 65 per cent of the stuff of life the harvests this year have slightly exceeded those of 1920, according to the bureau of Markets and Crop Estimates. Northern and Central Europe will cut more wheat this year than last, but the yield in British India and Russia is far below normal. India will have to import wheat instead of exporting it, as is usual. To make matters worse the rice crop also has been seriously reduced. In Russia a very small area is reported to have been sown, and the dry spell has made sowing there a task.

It would seem that nature, taking the earth as a whole, has proved no kinder. But her discrimination against certain countries has placed a new burden on the already none too adequate means of distribution.—[New York Sun.

Not a Political Issue.
That the peace treaties now pending before the Senate represent the preponderance of sentiment of the American people there can be no doubt. A sharp advance of Liberty bond prices within the past few days reveals the drooping spirits of hundreds of thousands of people who invested in this form of government security and had given up hope of ever getting back what they had paid. In all parts of the nation reports indicate that the construction of small houses is going forward extensively. While many of these homes are being built for purely investment purposes, the fact remains that thousands upon thousands of Americans are building homes of their own today and are thus exemplifying one of the most exalted manifestations of thrift.

Many persons who have learned the value of thrift can trace the beginning of their success to the home-owning impulse. JUDGES MAY REVOKE LICENSES

AMENDMENT TO VEHICLE LAW GIVES JUDGES AUTHORITY OF STATE ROAD.

County and City Judges Authorized to Revoke or Suspend Chauffeurs' Licenses and Certificates of Registration—State Tax Commission Send Warning in Circular to County and City Officials.

There have been recently distributed by the state tax commission to all county judges, except those in New York city, and to magistrates in the first, second and third classes a circular letter and forms of procedure in the matter of suspension and revocation of automobile licenses.

Such a letter has been received by City Judge Huntington of Oneonta, and for the benefit of motor car owners and drivers it is published below.

Revocation of Licenses.

"The motor vehicle law as amended by the legislature last year, provides that the suspension and revocation of licenses of operators and chauffeurs and of the registration of owners of motor vehicles was transferred from the secretary of state's office to the county judge in all counties, except New York, and to magistrates in cities of the first, second and third class.

"This commission is very anxious to have the cooperation of police departments in all cities, and will furnish a sufficient number of forms for use in the department of your city. We ask that these forms be used, and that violators of the law be prosecuted where, in the judgment of the police, sufficient cause exists for making application for revocation or suspension of the license or certificate of registration.

"Complaints may be made by police officers, state troopers, justices of the peace or any individual.

Demonstration Plates.

"Many garages and dealers are using demonstration plates contrary to the statute—putting old and worn cars or cars, and almost uniformly have neglected to have the certificate of registration transferred when old cars are received in exchange for new ones. These cases, of course, have the element of revenue in them and we are interested in seeing that everybody complies with the law, not only where revenue is involved, but in the exercise of police regulations. You will likely find many cases where applications for revocation or suspension should be made."

NEXT WEEK TO JAMESTOWN.

Delegates to State Sunday School Convention Assemble on Tuesday.

Next week all Sunday school roads in New York state will lead to Jamestown, where 2,000 delegates are expected to assemble from every county in the state to attend the 55th annual session of the New York State Sunday School association, October 11, 12, 13.

Arrangements have been made by which return tickets can be secured by those who pay full fare going for one-third the usual rate, provided 250 persons thus take advantage of the proposition and present their names to the railroad representative at the convention. Sunday schools in all parts of the state are this week electing delegates to attend the convention to enjoy its strong program and its great specialization institute of 60 periods in which Sunday school workers in any grade may specialize for two days in the work of their department.

Miss Margaret Blaxter of Boston, who just returned from an around-the-world trip, will speak on Tuesday evening, October 11, as will also Dr. William T. Ellis of Swarthmore, Pa., a celebrated traveler and newspaper correspondent.

The one spectacular event of the convention will be the coronation on Wednesday evening, when the pageant, "The Light of the World," conducted and directed by Prof. E. Augustine Smith, its author, will be given.

Delegates will be lodged in the home of Jamestown families at a rate of $1 per night. Credential cards may be secured without charge upon application to the New York State Sunday School association, 50 Howard street, Albany.

Hill Takes Over Binghamton Sun.

The sale of the Binghamton Sun, for the past few years owned by George F. Johnson, to ex-Congressman William H. Hill was consummated on Saturday last, as is told in an announcement which appeared in the Sun of Monday, when the first edition under the new management appeared. The name of William H. Hill appears at the head of the editorial column as owner and editor, but Walter L. Lyon will continue in charge of the editorial department.

H. K. Southworth will be associated with Mr. Hill in the management of the paper. Fay S. Benedict, with Mr. Hill for 15 years on the Johnson City Record, will be advertising manager, and George W. A. McElhenny mechanical superintendent.

Mr. Hill anticipates that the paper will become Republican in policy and that it is his intention in the near future to issue a Sunday edition. The many friends of Mr. Hill will wish him success in his new venture.

It is easier for us to save money for a definite purpose than to save merely for the purpose of accumulation, and what object could be more worthy of our prudent practices than the possession of one's own home?

Not only may we look upon this phase of thrift from a practical standpoint, realizing that, if we buy wisely, we shall be making a very good investment of our savings, but there is a splendid sentimental value attached to the possession of a home. Linked with it are many of the finest inspirations and most tender associations of life. With the ownership of a home, bought and paid for out of one's own savings comes a feeling of possession and accomplishment that can be acquired in no other way.

Here is something concrete—something that stands as a monument to one's good sense and prudence. Even if you have passed the days of early youth it is not too late for you to begin to save money now for a home of your own. Your advancing years in fact should serve as additional incentives for you to become the possessor in your own right of the roof that covers your head. And as you grow older with possibly a diminishing income, you will find ever increasing comfort in the knowledge that the dollars you saved have provided a real home for you—a hallowed spot that is yours completely, and which will afford you a constant place of refuge, comfort and security.

OXFORD WOMAN SHOT.

Mrs. Eva Clark May Be Fatally Injured—Harry Wells Arrested.

Oxford, Oct. 3.—While out automobile riding with a young married man of this village early Saturday night, Mrs. Eva Clark, about 30 years old, also of this village, was shot in the left breast and seriously wounded. She was rushed to the Oxford hospital where she was operated upon by Dr. Thomas P. Manley and Dr. A. R. Morse, the former extracting a 32 calibre bullet.

District Attorney Ward N. Truesdell, of Sherburne; Sheriff C. Fred Hoyer, Norwich, and Chief of Police Babcock, Norwich, conducted an investigation into the shooting, resulting in the arrest of Harry Wells, owner and driver of the automobile with whom Mrs. Clark said she was riding.

Shortly after the operation was performed, Mrs. Clark, in a statement to District Attorney Truesdell, said that Wells shot her, firing two shots, one taking effect in her left breast. She said she was shot while resisting his advances.

When arrested, Wells denied he shot Mrs. Clark, whose husband is a blacksmith here. Wells was locked up in the Norwich jail and will be arraigned today before City Judge Forsythe.

District Attorney Truesdell in a statement to a Sun reporter early this morning said that if Mrs. Clark lives, a charge of assault, first degree, will be lodged against Wells, and if she dies, a charge of murder, first degree.

Clean up Garden and Bother Bogs.

Raking up the garden and burning stalks, vines and other vegetable debris in the fall will cause a shortage of winter homes for the bugs and fewer insect pests to bother next summer. Sprays of vegetable diseases are thus destroyed also.

If any weeds have grown up in late summer they should be cut down and burned before they can scatter seeds. No call vegetables should be left lying about to tempt rabbits which may later bark the fruit trees.

The garden has earned its winter rest, and it will rest better if it is thoroughly cleaned up in the fall, the vegetable man at the state college of agriculture says.

Little Talks on Thrift

by S. W. STRAUS, President American Society for Thrift.

It is gratifying to note that an era of active home building has been inaugurated in this country. In all parts of the nation reports indicate that the construction of small houses is going forward extensively. While many of these homes are being built for purely investment purposes, the fact remains that thousands upon thousands of Americans are building homes of their own today and are thus exemplifying one of the most exalted manifestations of thrift.

Many persons who have learned the value of thrift can trace the beginning of their success to the home-owning impulse. It is easier for us to save money for a definite purpose than to save merely for the purpose of accumulation, and what object could be more worthy of our prudent practices than the possession of one's own home?

LOCAL MENTION

The Katydids.
While fading summer breathes its chill,
And night turns o'er day's finished page,
I listen as, in accents shrill,
The Katydids their quarrels wage.

For, "Katydids," begins the wife,
And "Katydids!" rasps her spouse;
They surely lead a horrid life,
Forgetting all their nuptial vows.

It makes me wonder, yes it does,
Why the lone night they so alarm;
I fear an awful thing it was
That Katy did down on the farm.

—Nine marriage licenses were issued at the city clerk's office during September.

The funeral of Delbert Decker will be held at the West End Baptist church at 1 o'clock this afternoon, instead of at his late home, 30 Gilbert street, as announced in yesterday's Star. A prayer service will be held at the home at 12:30.

At the meeting of the board of public works last evening, the bills for the month were audited and the construction of a bridge over Oneonta creek on Gault avenue was ordered. Work on the bridge will commence at an early date and it will doubtless be completed this fall.

As soon as the new walk and curb along the north side of Lower Chestnut street are completed and the street can be levelled it will be opened for public travel during the winter. It is believed that travel will assure a better job when the pavement is laid than were the pavement to be constructed at once before the ditches are settled.

From the equipment and exhibits passing through Oneonta to Morris today, it may be accepted that the fair will maintain its usual high standard and with the improved highway now connecting the city with that village it is probable that Oneonta will be well represented at the fair each day. It opens today and continues for four days.

BASE BALL BULLETINS.

Daily Star Will Post Returns of World Series Inning by Inning.

The Daily Star will, during the World series, which opens at New York city tomorrow between the Giants and the Yankees, post frequent bulletins, giving the game inning by inning. Prior to being posted the bulletins will be read aloud from the editorial room windows and all interested in the games are cordially invited to join the throng who will listen to the reports.

The Star is under the impression that the games are to be called at 2 o'clock. Should they not be called until 3 o'clock, it will probably be 15 minutes before the bulletins commence to arrive and they should come along without interruption from the starting time.

There has been some talk of an arrangement whereby the games would be received in the city play by play and an admission charge made for the series. No definite announcement of this has been made and unless some last minute announcement of such an arrangement being made and the story read in some hall, fans will find The Star bulletins next best to witnessing the games which but comparatively few from this city will be able to do.

ITALIAN WIELDS RAZOR

Tony Carozza Sought by Police for Slashing Fellow Countryman and His Wife—Condition of Victims Not Serious.

Dominick Deliso of 2 Washburn avenue was badly cut about the head and face and his wife received a deep wound on her arm when Tony Carozza, rushed with drink, ran amuck with a razor at the Deliso home about 2 o'clock Sunday evening. Carozza is still at large but a warrant, charging him with assault in the first degree has been issued, and police officials are confident that they will soon have him in their net.

The slashing followed an altercation between Carozza and Andrew Amoroso of Dorset street, who with his wife was dining at the Deliso home. Mr. and Mrs. Deliso and the Amorosos were in the kitchen talking when Carozza and Jim Ventrone of Schenectady entered. Carozza, who was intoxicated, at once began to call Amoroso, with whom he rooms vile names. The latter remonstrated with him and at last told him that he must seek other quarters, whereupon Carozza hit him in the face with his fist.

Ventrone and Deliso interfered, the former seizing Amoroso and Deliso seeking to pin Carozza's arms. Carozza shook off the grip and drawing a razor, slashed Deliso across the face and head and his wife across the left arm. He then threw the weapon down and ran out of the back door.

Patrolman Merville Howard, who happened to be in the vicinity, was soon at the scene of the fracas but Carozza had vanished. Police headquarters was notified and a detachment of men in charge of Sergeant Odell started a search for the man which lasted through the night.

Dr. L. S. Lang called and dressed the wounds of Mr. and Mrs. Deliso. The two cuts on Deliso, one extending from his forehead to the back of the head and the other from the left eye down across the face, were to the bone and required 20 stitches to close. The condition of neither person is serious.

WILL TELL OF MOOSEHEART

Prominent Members of L. O. O. M. Come to Oneonta Friday to Address Public Meeting at Municipal Hall.

On Friday evening of this week Oneonta lodge No. 358, L. O. O. M., will have as its guests Eugene Dickerson, James F. Griffin of Boston, R. H. Galvin of Rochester, district supervisor of the organization department, and Mark H. Harrington of Mooseheart, Ill. They will speak at a public meeting to be held in Municipal hall at 8 p. m.

These gentlemen are coming to Oneonta to tell the public just what the Loyal Order of Moose is doing at Mooseheart for the dependent widows and children of its deceased members. No doubt, most Oneontians have "heard" of Mooseheart, but this event will give them an opportunity to learn fully of the great work that is daily being carried on there.

The committee of arrangements has been actively at work preparing to welcome the distinguished guests, and has left nothing undone to make the meeting a success. Every citizen who has the interest of humanity, and especially child welfare, at heart is earnestly invited to hear the messages of these men Friday evening.

The following leading members of the local order have been appointed a reception committee to meet the gentlemen on their arrival in Oneonta: E. J. Morse, Ira A. Stillman, W. F. Tamsett, L. D. Slade, C. L. House, George J. Boeker, L. F. Dotts and Claude V. Smith.

Work on Theatre Progresses.

The steel beams which have been holding up construction on the Oneonta theatre arrived Saturday and work is now being pushed as rapidly as possible. The auditorium floor has been completed as far as the concrete is concerned, but the remainder of the seats, as well as those in the first balcony, have yet to be placed. Mr. Snyder of the American Seating company, with three assistants, will arrive tomorrow to do this work.

With the seats placed, work will be far enough advanced so that the theatre can reopen next Monday as scheduled. For a short time no matinees will be given, except on Saturdays, so as to allow the contractors and decorators to work during the day. The usual evening performances will be given, however.

Shoppers Erect Tablets.

Two memorial tablets will be unveiled at the Colonial shops of the Delaware & Hudson company at Colonial next Saturday morning. PEOPLE LONG FOR SYMPATHY

So Bishop Berry Told His Auditors in His Sermon Last Night on Having the Mind of the Master.

"There are many people in Oneonta who are having a hard time because of environment, heredity and their own evil ways who are longing for sympathetic assistance and loving help back to the pathway of truth and virtue, and while they may laugh, the laughter dies away into a sigh for the better things of life." Bishop Berry told his auditors at the special services at the First Methodist church last night. The rain prevented a large attendance, but there were many who braved the storm and who were rewarded with an excellent sermon.

"Let this mind be in you which was also in Christ Jesus" was the text, and the Bishop said that we must have his mind and motives. In the interval, the political and social realm, the first question is, "Will it pay?" It should never be heard in the church. Here the paramount question is, "Will it please Him?" and "Will it help some one?" Christ had the highest and loftiest motives in coming to earth. When we take His motives and purposes we become Christlike.

We should have the charity of Christ. We sometimes set up standards and then condemn those who do not measure up to them. Not so with Christ. He said to the woman caught in adultery and brought to him, "Go thy way and sin no more." He occasionally reprimanded, but a really looked for good motives and kind things. The church is not primarily for good people, but for people who seek to be good. Some think of the church as a cathedral and some of it as a social center, but said the speaker, I prefer to think of it as a hospital where the blind are made to see, the sick are healed and where the Christ love is instilled into the hearts of men.

In closing the speaker emphasized the importance of having the self-render of the Master. He came to give life and give life more abundant. The man or woman who will give up thoughts of self and self-advancement and will strive to aid others will find it gives ample reward in this life and an abundant reward in the life to come. Impelled by Divine love for humanity we can bear the burdens of the weak. The world has taken on a new conception of a life of self-sacrificing devotion to the welfare of others since the war and the spirit permeates men and women as never before. He told the story of "Gus," the Chicago boy who, after enduring everything for the Master and whose life was powerful for good.

Following the sermon there was a consecration meeting in which many re-consecrated themselves to the work of the Master and in which the best of spirit prevailed.

The services will continue each evening to and including Friday and the public is cordially invited to all of the meetings.

ATHLETIC BODY ELECTS

Officers Chosen to Lead Company G Athletic Association—Basketball Outlook Is Bright.

At a recent meeting of the Company G Athletic Association the following officers were elected: President, D. D. Loushary; vice president, J. A. Gilmarth; secretary, N. J. Darling; treasurer, L. S. Still; manager, A. E. Smallin; assistant manager, A. E. Myers.

The officers met at the armory last evening to discuss plans for athletic activities at the armory during the coming year and to transact other matters of business. It was decided to begin the basketball schedule about the middle of November and to hold games after the games. A goodly number of candidates have reported at the practices held thus far and Coach Ernest Damschke is optimistic over the outlook. Correspondence relative to games has been had with other military units in the state and it is certain that a number of fast teams will be seen in action with Company G at the armory this fall.

And winter. Manager Smallin has a number of open dates on his schedule and is anxious to sign up fast amateur teams from surrounding cities.

HAYWARD STICKS TO STORY

Suspect in Weidmann Murder Case Is Galled by Scranton Detectives.

Galled by Scranton detectives, George Hayward, 26, of Syracuse, arrested recently in Philadelphia on a warrant charging him with the murder of Harry P. Weidmann in West Scranton about a month ago, has failed to add anything to statements he had previously made.

Hayward was brought to Scranton from Philadelphia Friday, and Sunday, after he had been "mugged" and his finger prints taken, he was examined at length by detectives in charge of the case. In the statement which he signed he merely repeats the story he told when arrested in Syracuse on an auto theft charge a few days after the murder. He admits having been in the Lackawanna house in Scranton and to have seen a party of men enter the hotel and later leave. He claims that he did not know Weidmann by sight and that he does not know whether the party he saw was composed of Weidmann and business associates.

The youthful suspect says that he "might have been" in West Scranton on the night of the murder. He and a companion accompanied two girls to their homes, but, as he was not familiar with the city, he did not know whether or not he was on the West Side.

The Scranton police officials are now picking up the loose ends of the case and Hayward will not get a hearing in police court for several days.

FAMOUS TRAVELERS COMING.

Couple Who Tramped for 8,000 Miles to Appear at Strand.

Mr. and Mrs. Dwight H. Woolf of Kansas City, who for 3½ years tramped over 8,000 miles covering in large part the United States and who during that time gathered photos of many interesting places visited, are coming to the Strand theatre on Thursday and Friday, October 14 and 15, and will bring with them two reels of moving pictures which will be shown. During their showing Mrs. Woolf will talk about them and about the experiences she and her husband had during the more than five years they spent in gathering the views.

It was their custom, while moving about, to visit points of special interest and then to send to a nearby city for experienced photographers to come and make pictures of scenes at these places. The pictures have been woven together into two reels and Mrs. Woolf makes the exhibition very interesting by her talking upon them.

During the presentations which commence about 7½ minutes Mr. Woolf will also render some musical specialties on the violin. They will appear at each show at the Strand during the two days they are in the city. Mrs. Woolf claims to be the champion lady walker of the country. The tramp originally planned for health's sake has resulted in an entertainment at once unique and interesting.

Bing Earns a Safer Life

Bing has retired, to lead a regular dog's life. And he has earned the change, says his owner, Lieut. Joseph Stromme, of the U. S. air service. Bing has served Uncle Sam well as a parachute jumper, giving new kinds of parachutes their first tryouts. He has taken 12 chances, the highest from 1500 feet.

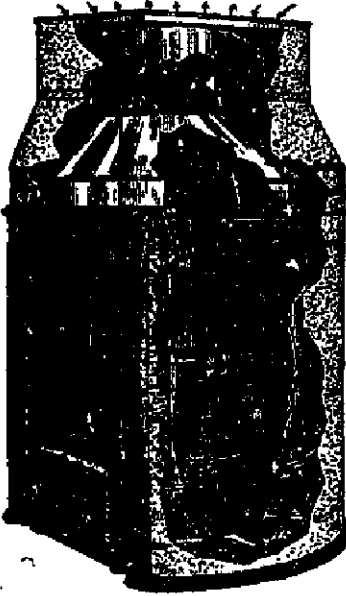

The Modern Glenwood Single Pipe Furnace

You can make a big saving in your coal bill and take solid comfort this winter and for years to come with a Modern Glenwood Single Pipe Furnace.

It is built massive and strong from top to bottom, and is easy to regulate as a clock—just a slight turn of the regulating damper increases the heat or slows it down.

A few sticks of wood—just rubbish you want to be rid of, will give sufficient heat on mild days.

It heats the entire house uniformly, upstairs and down; is easy to handle and costs much less than any other heating apparatus to install and keep in order. It is equally good for old or new houses.

A Glenwood "Makes Heating Easy" It does away with hot air pipes in the cellar and in partition walls, and because of the triple insulated casing surrounding the fire chamber prevents waste of heat in the cellar and is a wonderful improvement for country homes where a cool cellar is essential for vegetable and fruit storage.

For burning Wood instead of Coal this furnace is ideal. Double fire doors are provided to admit large logs and the new wood grate will keep a wood fire night and day the same as if burning coal.

Note the arrows in illustration showing the downward passage of cold air against the outside casing and the upward flow of warm air on the inside next to fire chamber. This circulation is constant so long as there is any heat in the furnace.

Glenwood Ranges and Furnaces are famous the Country over for their strength, efficiency and good workmanship. They Save Fuel and Make Cooking and Heating Easy.

The low cost will surprise you.

LISTEN HERE, KIDS!

No Exams, No Home Work in These Public Schools.

Evanston Superintendent Announces New Regime Which Includes Music, Folk Dances and Movies.

Evanston, Ill.—Music is just as important as the multiplication table and folk dancing is as great a spur to youthful brains as is geography, in the opinion of Frederick W. Nichols, superintendent of school district No. 70, comprising the South Evanston schools, who announced a new regime for the Lincoln, Oakton, Central and Washington grade schools.

The four schools will be open to the pupils from 8:30 o'clock in the morning until ten at night. Classes will last until 3:30 in the afternoon, but pupils will be permitted to go home at any hour their parents desire.

"I am going to eliminate home work," said Superintendent Nichols. "It is the bane of school children. And there will be no examinations; they merely worry the youngsters. The students will do all their scholastic work right in the classrooms."

In addition, the schools will remain open until ten o'clock in the evening for special classes in manual training, music, languages, art, dramatics, athletic games, folk dances, domestic science and movies. The parents will be invited to come to these classes with their children.

"Examinations are an unhealthy, antiquated tyranny," added Superintendent Nichols. "Growing children should not be compelled to sit in classrooms all day and then lug books home for night lessons. You can't get an estimate of a child's mental equipment by insisting that he cram a lot of facts in his head and scribble as many as he can remember on the semester exam papers."

"I'm going to teach these youngsters to think for themselves. Dancing and music lessons will be mental tonics. By the new classes pupils will gain self-reliance, a love of school life, and agile minds."

JAMES I. FOUNDED GOLF CLUB

Oldest Organization of Kind in England Boasts 300 Years Continuous Existence.

London.—The oldest golf club in the world, founded in 1688 by James I. of England and VI. of Scotland, is still used today at Blackheath, the home of the Royal Blackheath club.

This club was established 127 years before the Edinburgh Burgess Golfing society, and 148 years before even the Royal and Ancient club was formed.

The course at Blackheath today is similar to what it was when James and his cronies went there for exercise. The course consists of seven holes, which have to be played three times for a complete medal round. There are no awe-inspiring bunkers, and the hazards consist of iron railings, lamp posts, nurse maids and children.

The clubhouse is a museum of historic treasures relating to the game, and there is a set of clubs 200 years old. In the collection is an iron club more than four feet long with a head as big as a two-handed battle axe.

Ancient traditions are maintained at club dinners, members wear their red coats, and there is betting on who will sneeze most when the old snuff box is passed about.

Aged Woman Chokes Weasel.

Mount Carmel, Pa.—Although seventy-seven years old and recovering from a fractured rib sustained three weeks ago, when a door blowing shut knocked her down the cellar steps, Mrs. Mary Ramsey of Fishersdale went to the rescue of a chick she heard crying in distress and found a large weasel carrying it away. She caught the weasel with her bare hands and choked it to death.

Nab Thieves in Vienna Sewers.

Vienna.—In a raid on the sewers or thieves who were suspected of swilling themselves of those short cuts up into houses they intended to rob, a number of men were captured by the police, after a fight with pistols. Women clad in black tights were among them.

HURT BY RHINOCEROS

American Woman Injured While Hunting in East Africa.

Mrs. Frederick Dalziel Misses Death by Inches in Encounter With Wounded Animal.

London.—After a six months' big game shooting and exploration expedition in the Tanganyika territory, formerly German East Africa, Mrs. Frederick Dalziel, a young American woman, is in London on her way to a quiet home life with her husband and two daughters in New York.

During her expedition, which she made in company with Sir Charles Ross and Mr. Barnes, the African explorer, and his wife, Mrs. Dalziel included in her "bag" among a large quantity of smaller game, an elephant, a buffalo, two rhinoceroses, three hippopotamuses and seven lions.

"I went for my health, really," she said to an interviewer, "for I was compelled to lead an open air life."

Mrs. Dalziel described how she missed death by inches in an encounter with a wounded rhinoceros.

"One day," she said, "we were walking down one of the jungle tracks, almost like subway tunnels, which run from water hole to water hole, when we came on a big animal asleep. Sir Charles Ross went on ahead and fired at and wounded it, and it went crashing away into the jungle. I was some little way behind, and suddenly I heard, scarcely a yard away, the noise of the rhinoceros, which had gone round in a circle and was coming back to the track again."

"I went behind a bush, but the animal also had the same idea, and it crashed right past me and caught me with its side, and I and two natives who were with me were knocked over into a thorn bush. Except for some cuts about the face I was unhurt. Most probably the rhinoceros did not see me."

Here Sir Charles Ross broke in, saying:

"There is only one thing that Mrs. Dalziel has been entirely deprived of in her composition. That is—fear. When a lion suddenly appears a few feet away from you and Mrs. Dalziel says, 'What a beautiful lion!'—well, there you are."

"It was!" exclaimed Mrs. Dalziel.

ENDS "SHRIMP DANCE"

Modern Machinery Does Away With Picturesque Custom.

Sun-Dried Shrimps Were "Chucked" to Music of Banjo Plunked in Weird Minor Key.

New Orleans.—Due to the inroads of modern machinery, the "shrimp dance," one of the picturesque bits of routine that for years has marked the work on the shrimp-drying platforms along the Louisiana south coast, this year goes into the lumber room of memories to join other quaint customs of bygone years.

Machinery hereafter will "chuck" the sun-dried shrimps.

To the tourists who have ventured down into the wilderness of low-lying marshes, where the shrimp platforms gather in the cargoes of the travelers, the "shrimp dance" has ever been a colorful memory.

Boiled in salt water in great copper vats, dried in the sunshine to rubbery resilience, the shrimps have been swept up into huge circles in the past years. Then, while guitar or banjo or accordion wailed and plunked a dancing strain in a weird minor key, the husky platform workers, hands on hips, have shuffled over the circular piles of shrimp. Beneath their tread the brittle shells cracked into fragments.

Following the dance the pinkish shrimp meat was shoveled through great screens, the brittle shell fragments falling through, while the piles of dried fish were packed in barrels.

The shrimp industry in Louisiana has grown to greater proportions than is generally known. During the season of 1920, 20,716 persons were supported by the industry, more than $1,000,000 were invested in shrimp fleets, and the catch was listed by government officials at 25,950,000 pounds.

WIDOW NEED NOT TELL ALL

Failure to Tell Husband of Former Children Is Upheld in Nebraska Court.

Minature, Neb.—Henry C. Blood, business man, has found out that Nebraska courts do not consider it extreme cruelty for a wife to deceive him as to the number of her offspring by a previous marriage and to quarter the same upon him.

Blood, who is 53, got into correspondence with a widow in Maryland through a matrimonial newspaper advertisement, became enamored of her and went back east and married her. He was led to believe she says, that she had no encumbrances, but soon after they settled down here her children by a former marriage began to turn up until seven of them had appeared to board with him. He said that it cost him a lot more than he could earn to support all that number, and none of them showed any desire to become a wage-earner. He sued for a divorce, but lost.

FRANCE WILL TRY HYGIENE

Fresh Air, Ice Water and Bath Make Their Formal Debut in Republic.

OLD CUSTOMS HARD TO BREAK

New University City Will Experiment in Effort to Overcome the Traditional Aversion to Anglo-Saxon Principles of Health.

Paris.—It will doubtless require numerous decades to convince Frenchmen that Anglo-Saxons who sleep at night with open windows, drink ice water many times a day and insist on rooms and living apartments with baths are not a trifle queer. For countless generations the French people have "known" instinctively that to drink water undiluted with wine is highly dangerous, that open windows after nightfall let in damp, cold air which breeds pulmonary trouble, rheumatism and many of the ills that the human race is heir to; that to imbibe ice water and iced concoctions upsets the stomach.

But there are signs today that France is changing. One of the great signs of late has been the revolutionary and radical pronouncements of such an authority on hygiene as the celebrated Professor Garie of the Paris Academy of Medicine, who is now advising his fellow countrymen to forget the aged traditions. The professor points to Americans and Britishers to uphold his "radical" contention that one may drink water in plenty, eat ice cream, breathe plenty of fresh air right around the clock and, in fact, do all the things in France that Anglo-Saxon foreigners do in their own countries.

Great Initial Victory.

It will take longer, in the opinion of France's new "school of fresh air hygiene," to wean the French away from closing all the windows and shutters with the first damp of evening and keeping them closed until the sun comes up again. However, the greatest initial victory comes with the plans which have been jointly adopted by the French parliament and the City of Paris for the new "university city," a distinctly hygienic institution to be built near Montsouris park, within the city limits. French schools up to now have not been noted for facilities of hygiene. The new "university city" will consist of houses three stories high, with lawns and gardens laid between, and in the very center of the architectural group will be a large building containing shower baths, swimming pools, a gymnasium, music auditorium and library. Students at present crowded and crowded in the aged, unsanitary student quarter on the left bank of the Seine will have in the "university city" all the facilities for living, studying and sleeping in all the fresh air that the high Montsouris region and modern hygienic principles can give them. They will be encouraged to sleep with open windows facing spacious places perfumed with flowers and plants.

Under Protest.

The price for student lodgings in this modern city of learning will be about $40 a year. Although a general director will be appointed, his authority, it is announced, will be limited. Students will not be treated as pensionaries, nor cloistered monks. But whether the students will be allowed by the homefolk to bring their university fresh air training into the old homestead is yet to be seen. It is more probable that father and mother will let son or daughter carry on fresh air tactics under protest, while the elders lock their bedroom windows, clamp the shutters tight and sleep as their fathers and grandfathers, mothers and grandmothers have been doing for centuries.

JAPS CENSOR 2,350 KISSES

Also Cut Over 300 Hugs and 127 Murders From Movie Films—Many Titles Changed.

Seattle, Wash.—The police of Japan do not like to see kissing in public and therefore film stars are not permitted to osculate on the screens, is the news brought home by G. L. Schirer, a motion picture exporter.

In the six months ending July 1 censors removed 2,350 kisses from films, only one kiss being allowed to remain. It was the kiss granted to the king by the queen in "We Are King" and was shown in Tokyo only. The censors deleted it before permitting the photoplay to be offered in the prefectures.

Over 300 embraces were omitted, but few sex plays were otherwise altered. The titles of over 2,000 plays were made over and 127 murder scenes were killed.
